

Meghraj Capital Engages with Financial Institutions in India for Capacity Building on Energy Efficiency Financing

Joseph Prakash, Meghraj Capital, India, speaking to financial institutions at a recent workshop on energy efficiency financing

In India, investment potential of more than USD 25 billion exists in energy efficiency. To unlock this potential it is vital to build a greater knowledge and confidence on energy efficiency (EE) financing within the financial sector.

Meghraj Capital, India, along with Frost & Sullivan, is helping Bureau of Energy Efficiency (BEE), India and the International Finance Corporation (IFC) in carrying out capacity building of banks and NBFC officials on EE financing.

The recent BEE workshop was conducted in Bhubaneswar, India, and our colleague Joseph Prakash had a fruitful interaction with bankers to discuss about the financing opportunities related to EE and also to understand the on ground challenges and barriers.

Thanks to BEE and IFC for providing this opportunity and thanks to our partner Frost & Sullivan for their continuous support.
