The Primary focus of this policy is to ensure a congenial work environment that is free from threat or fear. There are a few things employees can do to help translate the policy into day-to-day practices.

- Sexual harassment can take many forms: spoken, unspoken or physical. Recognize that you may be conditioned to accept behaviors that infringe on your rights and constitute discriminate or gender discrimination as normal workplace conduct.
- Firmly say NO . It is possible that the offender does not know that their behavior is unacceptable. Promptly make a direct statement and communicate that the offender's conduct is not acceptable.
- Participating in jokes and sexually tinged conversation is often taken as tacit permission to continue. Communicate early on that this conduct is unacceptable
- Warn the offender to immediately desist, first orally and then if necessary, follow it up with a warning in writing.
- If employees are unsure of the course of action to take in a given situation, they should approach any of the Committee members informally and take their counsel.
- Employees are also encouraged to discuss any issues they may have in this area to their Supervisor / HR representative / any member of the 'Internal Complaints Committee.
- If employees believe that they have been a victim of harassment, or know of another employee who has been, report it immediately. Employees can raise concerns and make reports without fear of reprisal.
- Retaliation against an individual for bringing or corroborating harassment or discrimination allegations is strictly prohibited, so long as such allegations or corroboration are made in good faith and are not knowingly false.
